What people say about This England...

Your journal is the next best thing to a holiday in England. We don't get to see the "green and pleasant land" very often, but you help to keep our memories alive. — Eric Carter, Toronto, Canada.

It is the breath of life to an exile. — Mrs. Rose Dearing, Johannesburg, South Africa.

I wish I could express the pleasure which This England brings to me. It comes as a gift subscription from a dear friend in England, and if it were the Crown Jewels arriving, it could not be more enjoyed. — Mrs. Enid Simpson, Wilmington, North Carolina, USA.

The "Gem", that's the name I gave it when I was introduced to This England — it's much too beautiful to be described as a mere magazine. — E.M. Ashfield, Solihull, Warks.

My copies of This England are some of my most treasured possessions. — Mrs J. Matheson, Murrumbeena, Victoria, Australia.

I am a Scotswoman and very much love my pipers, but I have never enjoyed anything so much as This England. — Miss P. Kinsella, Torquay, Devon.

I have never been so affected by any magazine as This England. I shall treasure every copy. — H. Dean, Hoylake, Cheshire.

Your magazine is, without doubt, the finest in the world. — S.G. Pickles, Colne, Lancashire.

This England gives us the greatest pleasure of any magazine we see nowadays. On the day of its arrival everything tends to stop while we give ourselves up to the lovely enjoyment of it. In these days when all things tend to slide downwards into third rate mediocrity, your book is indeed a banner. Would that many others might raise the standard as you have done. — Anne Reed, Capalaba, Queensland, Australia.
